- Plant filtered natural swimming pool
- Large water storage tank
- Yoga deck
- 35km to south and west coast beaches

This lovely collection of buildings has been converted from an old water mill and is currently used as a yoga retreat. It has been well cared for and developed over the past few years. It is secluded but not isolated having a neighbouring house nearby, but everything is very private and peaceful. The yoga deck is hidden in a shady place in the garden. The land along the riverbank would be ideal for growing produce as it is flat and fertile.

This would be a great place for a generational family home or a group of friends to enjoy.
