This pre 1951 Portuguese townhouse has already undergone significant renovation. With its interior walls removed and extra windows fitted this small house which now has a bright, airy and spacious feel to it. Velux windows allow even more light to pour in. The exterior wall is very thick. The roof is insulated. All amenities are pre-installed and all final works (incl. kitchen, floor, bathroom etc.) are pre-requested, so a full renovation incorporating individual wishes, can be finished in a couple of weeks. The first floor can be converted in a bedroom or office. An extra bed can be fitted on the mezzanine floor.

The charming courtyard gives extra light and a private outdoor space, complete with tiny plunge pool. Everything has been thought out to make a very comfortable and pleasant home.
